CALL TO REDS

Halt Berlin Shootings, U.S. Warns

The United States called on the Soviet Union today to avoid shooting incidents on the East-West Berlin border "which could seriously jeopardize peace and the public order in Berlin."

The call was in a state department statement issued in the wake of an outbreak of shooting incidents involving West and East German police. The U.S. view was that the West Berlin police acted in self-defence Wednesday in firing back as the Communists shot at refugees fleeing the Soviet sector. One East German policeman was reported wounded by the West partment statement issued in ported wounded by the West German shots.

Since then, Communist police are reported to have fired into the Western sector

U.S., Soviet Near Accord

UNITED NATIONS (AP)-The United States today was reported to have agreed in the main to a Soviet plan for picking a temporary UN secretary-general. Support was building up for U Thant of Burma to take over the vital executive position.

The U.S. stand increased hopes that a way will be found to break with U.S. Soviet dead-lock with its threat of paralysis for the administrative arm of the world organization.

KAMLOOPS, B.C. (CP)-The president of the Canadian Medical Association Wednesday urged the government of the provinces to provide more hospital beds for convalescents and the chronically ill.

Dr. G. W. Halpenny of Montreal said lack of facilities for these patients has caused a serious shortage of beds for those acutely in need of them.

He told the annual meeting of the association's B.C. division: "If we can persuade govmaking adequate appropria-tions for this very grave need, I am sure the national expendi-tures for curative medicine would be greatly reduced."

VIENNA (AP)—The Soviet Union may withdraw from the International Atomic Energy Agency because of "lack of East-West co-operation," Soviet delegate W said today. Wasily Emelyanov Emelyanov said he would advise the Soviet government to withdraw from the East-West atoms-for-peace organization.

He told reporters that "as a first consequence of this situhe will also ask the Soviet government to relieve him of his duties as chief IAEA delegate.

He said he wished to resign "because the Western powers are pursuing a policy of dictating to other countries what to do in the agency."

The Fiction and the Fact

SENATOR MIKE MANSFIELD, the Democratic leader, and Senator William Fulbright, chair-man of the foreign relations committee, are probably the two most powerful men in the United States Senate. When they say that the nation of East Germany should be given de facto recognition as part of a Berlin settlement that step has evidently entered the region of practical American politics. So long as the division of prewar Germany could be considered temporary, the recognition of its Communist sector could be denied with at least some pretence of logic. When it is perfectly clear that Ger-many will remain divided for an indefinite time to come, that the wartime allies have succeeded in splitting the old nation fundamentally, these obvious facts must be accepted soorer or later.

It is doubtful, indeed, that any nation outside West Germany seriously desires German re-unification under present conditions, though both sides in the cold war protest opposite sentiment to satisfy the German people.

This curious fiction may now be nearing its end because it is becoming too dangerous to be main-

While that other fiction, the friendly four-power control of Ber-lin, worked reaconably well, or at least without the threat of war, it was possible to regard the two Ger-manys as deplorable but tolerable, a fact to be lived with for the time being. But the crisis of Berlin im-mediately strips the fiction from the German problem. For once Russia signs a peace treaty with East Germany that state will effectively control the West's access to

It has been clear for some time, of course, that the United States does not intend to fight a nuclear war with Russia merely because East German, instead of Russian officials may supervise the roads, Berlin. As the saying goes in Washington, it is not worth destroying civilization in a quarrel over a rubber stamp on the East German frontier. The United States government has insisted only that it must retain unimpeded access to West Berlin where its rights under the Potsdam agreement are regarded as invio-lable. If the East German government guarantees and protects those rights will the United States and its allies have suffered any serious loss? Senators Mansfield and Fulbright (both intimates of President Kennedy) evidently think not.

As Senator Fulbright says, how ever, the United States should recognize the East German government only as part of a satisfactory settlement in Berlin—presumably the absolute assurance that the threats against the West in that beleaguered city will cease.

Can the West be sure of that? To answer this question Mr. Rusk has been sounding out the Russian sphinx, Mr. Gromyko, apparently without much success so far, but if the United States were prepared to negotiate seriously on the recogni-tion of East Germany the whole situation might begin to change. No doubt responsible statesmen like Senators Mansfield and Fulbright have this possibility in mind when they commit their obviously calculated indiscretions.

It would seem from this and other evidence that the United States is in the first stages of a deep change in its German policy, away from the elaborate fiction of more than a decade toward the actual facts, the chief fact being that Germany is now two states and will remain so in the visible future.

We need not suppose, however, that such a basic reorientation of Western policy can be accomplished.

Only One Authentic German State Exists

If the defeat, hunger, foreign occupation, national division—were as unfavorable for the present Federal Republic is firmly upheld by the German "establishment is could be.

Nevertheless, there it is: the Federal Republic, as it exists today, 12 years and will remain so in the visible future.

We need not suppose, however, that such a basic reorientation of Western policy can be accomplished.

The germany speak of the Federal Republic is firmly upheld by the German "establishment" or "power elite"; there is no popular opposition to it, and the radical partitive conquest.

Republic, as it exists today, 12 years able and indestructible except by foreign multive conquest.

It is both a free and a stable state, and it is also authentically German, by per cent of the vote; the German factor of the vote of the vote; the German factor of the vote of the vote; the German factor of the vote; the German factor of the vote; the German factor of the vote of the vote; the German factor of the vote of the vot Western policy can be accomplished easily or quickly. There are daunting obstacles before Mr. Kennedy if he is actually revising his nation's position.

In the first place, the United States has committed itself so long and so fully to the objective of German re-unification that its abandonment is certain to be difficult in American politics and will be widely attacked as appeasement, another Munich. Secondly, the impact of Such a change on the West German people, who have never given up their hope of a united nation on the old boundaries, will be painful, as indicated already by the angry protests of some German newspapers.

Nevertheless, it is becoming and as a matter of course considered are any one authentic German state, which is kept territorially incomplete by outside forces. A "zone", complete by outside forces.

Indicated already by the angry protests of some German newspapers.

Nevertheless, it is becoming plainer all the time that the people of the West, while willing to stand on their rights in Berlin—mainly as a symbol of their refusal to surrender to blackmail—are not willing to fight for the fiction that Germany is one nation, that the East German state does not really exist. Why should they? Especially when the West was responsible, with Russia, for Germany's division in the first place.

If the facts of this situation are at last breaking through the fiction

The Weimar Republic was, from the beginning, opposed or, at best, half-heartedly tolerated by, the very classes which in every nation are the natural backbone of the state: the civil serv-ants, the universities, the judiciary, the professional soldiers. 'Dear Old England'

In defence of the Mother Country, I would like to add a few words to those of others who were indignant on reading Mr. Douglas Fisher's (Canadian delegate to the Commonwealth Parliamentary Conference in London) statement a few days ago.

In the first place it was in very bad taste since he was a guest in England at the time, and secondly, I fail to see how he has the power to speak for the many without their authority.

Put "this whole business of the Mother Country" to the vote, and I think I know who would come out on top.

I am a Canadian citizen, and love Canada, T also love dear old England, too, every inch of it, having my roots there. I always think and speak proudly of it as being my mother country, and always will.

In days of prosperity it is easy for

Mr. Fisher to make such a statement, and to forget one's benefactor. Does he really know England? I doubt it.

Long live the Mother Country, and God bless her always. (Miss) DOROTHY B. REEVES.

groups, and the consequence was permanent governmental instability. The Bundestag of Bonn has only two big and two small parties; there has been one government in 12 years; and the trend has been to what has been called a "two-and-shall party system", rather like the British one. This despite an electoral law which is much nearer than the party system and the state of t to the proportional representation than to the British system.

It has been said that the Germans have not lost their old vice of political have not lost their oid vice of pontical immoderation, they are now immoderately moderate. This, and the apparently unshakable hold of the Christian Democrats on much of the nation, might become a danger, not to the stability, but to the vitality of German democratic politics.

Also, the towering personality of the "old man," Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, has, willingly or not, revived the old German liking for ene-man-rule—a tradition, founded by Bismarck, momentarily discredited by Hitler, but now going the content of t strong again. It might be thought that a habit of one-party-rule and one-man-rule taken together might in the long-run smother German democracy again.

But quietly, in their own way, the Germans have developed their own sys-tem of checks and balances to forestall this danger. Parliament may be relatively weak in relation to the government (it is in fact not all that weak), and the opposition may be handicapped by the doubt whether it will ever win an election and become the government. Nevertheless, the government is anything but all-which has ruled Turkey since the coup d'etat of May 1960, to confirm the death sentences. But they had no majority for confirmation. General Cemal Gursel, head of state, was personally against it, and so were several other senior officers; many mere were undecided. The decision to execute came not from the Junta, but from the

Grim Drama

Late on the Friday night, it is now known, a grim drama was played out in Ankara. Political leaders as well as members of the Junta were against execution. But the Turkish army, and especially younger officers, stepped in decisively.

decisively.

Reliable reports of the scene are that these officers threatened the Junta that if the hangings were not proceeded with, they would kick out the Junta, take over power, and then themselves hang all the main accused at Yassiada.

The Junta bargained, and finally, out of 15 sentenced by the court to die, settled for the death of three.

The reason for the action by the army is not far to seek. A basic fact in Turkey today is that too many people supported Menderes and failed to appreciate the virtues of the switch of power. In the referendum last July some four million peasants voted against the new constitution, and this worried the army officers.

New political parties have arisen in the land. They are simply taking over the four million supporters of Menderes, and this means nearly half the electorate. Elections are due on Octo-ber 15, and most people believe they ber 15, and most people believe iney will be held. Power will then be handed over to civilian control. If, in the elections, these new parties came to power, the lives of the present leaders might be in danger.
So the people had to be given a clear and strong warning. For this a shock was deemed necessary. And the mini-mum the army required was the killing of Zoriu, Polatkan and Menderes himself.

It remains to be seen whether the Turks will take the hint. manner, that people are now sometimes wondering whether Germany is still a elections is quite uncertain. What sort true federation or something nearer a of democracy will emerge is still less

REPORTING

OTTAWA - The Voice of Women, the militant, nation wide peace organization claiming a membership "approaching 5,000," is in danger of being ameared in the coming ection as a Communist front group.

One Conservative MP, John F. Browne of Vancouver-Kingsway, recently quoted in the Commons from an article in the anti-labor, anti-socialist propaganda sheet "The Outlook" which describes the Voice of Women as a "left-wing organization," and accuses it as a "left-wing organization," and accuses it of playing into the Communists' hands by "internal agitation."

Prime Minister Diefenbaker's parliamentary assistant, John Pallett of Peel, Ont., mentioned VoW in the Commons and then commented that "Russian women are in full. support of the Russian atomic explosions."
The implication seems fairly clear: by taking an anti-atomic position, VoW is playing the Judy LaMarsh (Lib.; Niagara Falls) hotly defended the VoW against the innuendoes of Browne and Pallett. It "is not and has never been considered a left-wing organization." she said. Its members "are responsible people who care"; individuals who believe they can "participate in shaping the future."

Diefenbaker spoke shortly after the Pallett LaMarsh exchange. Without mentioning the VoW by name, he welcomed citizens' groups that, "endeavor to mobilize opinion... on behalf of the best things of life." and he professed to see no defamation of "this organization" in Pallett's comment about Russian women.

A few days later Diefenbaker received a VoW delegation for an hour and a half. It asked that Canada sponsor a resolution in the United Nations Assembly for the proclamation of a World Peace Year. The PM omised to study the request.

"Not any more," replied Pallett.

"Not any more," replied Pallett.

This disclosure that Sen. Josie Quart, head of the PC women, had withdrawn her sponsorship of VoW was followed by disclosure that Sen. Olive Irvine (PC, Man.), Sen. Nancy Hodges (Lib., B.C.) and Sen. Elsie Inman (Lib., P.E.I.) also had quit.

Still on the list of honorary patrons are Sen. Cairine Wilson (Lib., Ont.), who told me she has "taken no part" and had been "unaware that I was on" the list; Sen. Muriel Ferguson (Lib., N.B.), Sen. Marianna Jodoin (Lib., Que.), Mrs. Lester B. Pearson and Mrs. Hazen Argue. Hazen Argue.

My own inquiries, on top of what I have seen of the VoW, have convinced me it is not seen of the Vow, have convinced me it is not a Commie front group. But it is the kind of organization that in the past has been susceptible to Communist infiltration. It is thus apt to be suspect without real reason.

Miss LaMarsh is not a member, but on invitation she attended a VoW meeting in Toronto in mid-September and read a mes-

Toronto in mid-September and read a message of good wishes from Mrs, Pearson.

The VoW now has no Tory political sponsors—only Liberals and Socialists. Its only defender in the Commons was a Liberal. It has been slurred by two Tory MPs. Diefenbaker has been non-committal. One of its strongest supporters is the wife of Liberal leader Pearson—he whom Conservative Party literature charges is soft on Communism, and would "rather be red than dead."

CANADIAN SOCIETY 'DISEASED'

Unemployment Destroys Family Life, Says Church

OTTAWA (CP) — Anglican, churchmen said Wednesday the high rate of unemployment is evidence of a "diseased condition in Canadian society" resulting in destructive influences on individual and family life.

The Anglican Church of Canada executive council was told the tragedy of unemployment must not be measured in statistics but in human values. Human resources had to be mobilized to create an intelli-gent society, not a jungle.

Offering several proposals for solving the current unem-ployment crisis, the council rejected a major reduction in immigration as an answer. It also recommended a comprecial security programs to fill a gap in the "patchwork" of services now offered.

WAGE INDEX LOWER

The price index stability be-tween early August and early September followed a slight decline in industrial wages during July. The index of average industrial wages and salaries at Aug. 1—latest date available—was 182.3 compared with 182.8 a month earlier and 177.6 a year earlier. The index is based on 1949 wages equal-

Manner of BCE Takeover Deplored by C of C Board

HALIFAX (CP)—The board of directors of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce today "deplored" the manner in which the British Columbia government expropriated the B.C. Electric Company.

A declaration, made at the board's first meeting following the chamber's three day annual neeting, said:

"The newly-elected national board of directors unanimously deplores the action of the gov-ernment of British Columbia in expropriating a privately owned public utility without assurance that the public in-terest would thereby be better served and without proper safe-guards for the savings of thousands of individuals in-volved, such as neutral valua-tion arbitation and annual to ion, arbitration and appeal to the courts.

Such action by any responsi-ble government body, the dec-laration added, can seriously jeopardize the confidence of the investor in Canadian industry, and the attraction of risk capital that is indispens-able to maintain a growing and prosperous nation

INSIST ON SAFEGUARDS

The declaration also said that the chamber opposes the exercise of power either by government or its delegates without proper safeguards of the liberty of the individual and the freedom of Canadian institutions.

"The right of the citizen to appeal to the courts is a funda-mental concept of liberty," it an instruction from Wednes-day's closing business session of the chamber's annual meet ing that the board consider the matter immediately.

The instruction followed a dramatic debate in which some delegates wanted Wednesday's meeting to pass a resolution, and others advocated further consideration of the wording of any such declaration.

Speakers Wednesday seemed broadly agreed that the government had the right to expropriate but deplored the manner in which it was done.

Alouettes through a misunderstanding.

Coach Perry Moss of Montreal accused Gaudaur of breaching the ethics of professional football" by disclosing the list in a Hamilton ration program. The list is confidential under Canadian Football League rules.

Gaudaur emphatically denied that he intended to hurt the Montreal team.

"I was talking to coach (Jim) Trimble just before my broadcast, and he said that he had seen the names on the wire," Gaudaur explained.

"I thought he meant a news service wire, rather than a telegram from the CFL. As soon as I found out what happened, I called Moss to apologize.

The statement that I did it deliberately to disrupt his team's morale is ridiculous."

Gaudaur admitted the existence of the confidential waiver list, but said: "I don't happen doing it all year ourselves."

Celebrities and Cold

NEW YORK (UPI)—Looking at the young Cincinnati Reds playing the Yankees in the vast stadium, a first experience for every one of them, you have to doubt Fred Hutch-inson's claim they are not "tight."

They played well in the opening game. They were up against one of the best—if not the best—competitive pitcher in baseball today.

Perhaps they will bounce back and slay the giant as the Pirates did last year. But the crowd of 62,397, at the opening game of the 1961.

the opening game of the 1961 World Series seemed to sense they were outmatched.

Scarcely can there have been a series game when the crowd found so little to cheer about. Yet it was an excellent game as pure baseball. Whitey Ford pitched masterful two-hit ball. The Yanks got their two runs with But it was a dull game

Maybe there was a letdown after Roger Maris' heroic home run feat. Maybe Mickey Mantle's absence from the lineup played its part. And may-be the drab 60-degree weather, so dark the lights had to be turned on, subdued the crowd. · It was a day for topcoats and furs, coffee instead of beer. At $7.50 apiece for grandstand seats, you take the wife instead of the kids and maybe that was why there was far less yelling than during one of the regular season home games.

And maybe it was an admission that this is, after all, only a game. Ralph Houk, the Yankee manager in his first year, looked exceed-ingly pleased as he puffed on a large cigar and said kind words about Whitey Ford after the game.

Houk looked as complacent as the Reds looked depressed as they walked single-file into their locker room.

One of the biggest cheers Wednesday came for Joe DiMaggio, the great Yankee centrefielder. DiMaggio looked as trim and fit as the men on the field although it was 25 years ago that he played in his first world

Mr. Fulton sald measures States against organized crime "mean we will have to keep our eyes open" in Canada

"The more difficult it becomes for a malefactor to make a crooked dollar in one country, the more likely is he to seek opportunity in another country."

There was ample evidence of gambling combines operating into Montreal from major cities in the U.S.

"It is our objective, it is our intention, to destroy organized crime syndicates where they do exist in this country and to guarantee a very hostile reposes to enter the field," he promised.

Drug Count Defendants Diminishing

TORONTO (CP)-The nu ber of men facing trial under a jury indictment last May on charges of conspiracy to smug-gle $7,000,000 worth of heroin into the United States through Italy and Canada has been reduced to 14 from 20.

The field was narrowed by murder, ball jumping and a Toronto sentence. John Pa-palla, 37, of Hamilton, must serve an 18-month sentence for his part in beating Toronto gambler Max Bluestein before he is surrendered to U.S. au-

Hammarskjold cancelled his African plans and returned to New York to discuss the program with the permanent representatives of the African states.

Technical Aid

The morning of July 12, Hammarskjold met with the representatives of Ethiopia, Ghana, Guinea, Liberia, Libya, Morocco, Sudan, Tunisia and the United Arab Republic.

The UN was at once opening up a technical assistance office in Leopoldville, under a "resident representative" he informed them. Its mission would be to work out, together with Dr. Bunche, a detailed program of aid. But, in the with Dr. Bunche, a detailed program of aid. But, in the meantime, there were "high urgency" needs for security personnel to train the Congolese forces and for public administrators.

He asked the African representatives quickly to canvass their governments on officials and officers who could be assigned to such a program.

'TIPPLER TAX' URGED TO COVER JAIL COSTS

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—County supervisor Kenneth Habn proposed Wednesday that the city's drinkers pay for lodging the city's drunks.

"We need a tippler tax." Hahn told colleagues on the board of supervisors. He said that drunks make up 63 per cent of the prisoners in the city-county jail system and that their maintenance costs $4 million annually.

"If we pick up all the drunks off the city streets and throw them on the backs of the county taxpayers, it will mean an additional 4-per-cent property tax," he said. Instead, he suggested a citywide tax on drinks. The board of supervisors ordered, a study made of the matter.

To me, I am not to tell anyone that it is my birthday because she doyou think? PUZZLED that first want them to buy mother? I am as much HER sisterin-law is getting down to the fine technicalities. According to Webster's unabridged dictionary a "sister in-law" is the sister of one's husband or wife; also the wife of one's brother; SOME TIMES, the wife of one's brother; SOME TIMES, the wife of one's brother; I presume the "some times" to be considerate of the guests' pocketbooks, but I agree with you, Presents ARE great funds at a birthday party. I hope to one's brother; I presume the "some times" to be considerate of the guests' pocketbooks, but I agree with you, Presents ARE great funds at a birthday party. I hope to one's brother; SOME to considerate of the guests' pocketbooks, but I agree with you, Presents ARE great funds at a birthday party. I hope to mother is very thoughtful to presume the "some times" to be considerate of the guests' presided. Fall projects include sale of Christmas cards and collection of newspapers and waiting. What would be least painful to her?

DEAR NO BEAST: I DEAR NO BEAST: If you have made no commitments to get steady), just start dating another girl or two. If you had she want to keep her wondering want to keep her wondering to tell her outright, and I don't tell her outright, and I don't tell her outright, and I don't want to keep her wondering want to keep her wondering and waiting. What would be least painful to her?

DEAR NO BEAST: I DEAR NO BEAST: If you have made no commitments to get green to go the guest dother girl or two. If you had she want to keep her wondering and waiting. What would be least painful to her?

DEAR UNHAPPY: Your to do the function of the guests' pocketbooks, but I agree with you want to date others, and the hall, 520 Niagara Street.

OF RUSS CROP FAILURE

OTTAWA (CP) - Canadian grain expert Dr. D. G. Hamilton suggested today that crops in Russia's virgin lands project may have been hit by radioactive contamination from Soviet nuclear tests—and not by crop failure.

Dr. Hamilton said that when he visited the central Asian area a month ago there was no talk or visible sign of crop failure with 60 per cent of the grain harvested. Soviet nuclear testing not far away, might have contaminated what seemed to be a fair crop by Canadian prairie standards.

Reds Tie Series With 6-2 Victory

NEW YORK (CP) — Tall Joey Jay stopped New York with a four-hitter and his Cincinnati teammates took advantage of miscues to beat the Yankees 6-2 today and tie the World Series at 1-1.

Back-to-back singles by Elio Chacon and Eddie Kasko and catcher Elston Howard's passed ball manufactured what proved to be the winning run in the fifth inning.

The third game in the best-of seven series is set for Cin-cinnati Saturday.

Three of the Reds' runs off starter-loser Ralph Terry and Luis Arroyo were unearned. The big third run was scored with two out. The Reds added another run with two out in the sixth and sewed up the game with two runs in the eighth inning with the help of errors by Arroyo and Yogi

Jay and Terry were locked in a scoreless tie for three in-nings when both clubs struck with homers. Gordon Cole-man hit a 400-foot homer with Frank Robinson on base in the Berra retaliated in the bottom of the inning with a homer with Roger Maris, who had walked, on first.

Maris, hitless in the Yankees' 20 opening game victory/was grounded into a force play in the first, walked in the fourth, struck out with two men on in the fifth, and fanned again in the eighth with Tony Kubek
